The Fourth Sunday in Lent

March 2, 2008

Anointed

It is easy to forget what it means to be sons and daughters of the Triune God, but today's scripture readings remind us. In the first lesson, I Samuel 16:1-13, Samuel anoints David... "and from that day on the Spirit of the Lord came upon David in 'power' ". As sons and daughters of God, we are all anointed and are capable of living in the power of the Lord. Are our lives demonstrating this "power"?

The second reading is Psalm 23—one that almost everyone is familiar with. The theme of this passage for me is "security." As sons and daughters in Christ, we have a security that no institution on this planet could ever give us, not even if we had all of the money in the world. Are we using the security we have as children of God to explore what it means to be "anointed" and "in power"? We have the freedom to explore the power of God by making mistakes. This may mean doing what we think He is telling us to do, but finding out later that it was not really His voice. It's alright. We have security regardless of the mistakes we make.

The Gospel lesson is about Jesus placing mud on a blind man's eyes to make him see. How ironic. God takes something that is considered dirty, yucky, slimy (sounds like how most of us feel at times) and uses it as an instrument of healing. I think one of the messages here is that God can use us as instruments of physical and mental healing for others (regardless of how we might be "feeling"). "Feelings" are not who we are and do not dictate our behavior.

The final scripture reading from Ephesians 5 exhorts us to be thankful and encourage one another in our "son/daughter-ship."

Lord, help us to lay aside our flesh, to step out in faith and live according to the inheritance you have given us. Amen.

-Glenn Knipscheer
